That little fellow on the cover is Aeolus, king of the winds. He is blowing to you the message of this school year.

The first G.H.S. annual appeared in 1912 as a result of the senior class' desire to do something different. The project of a class play was set aside and all efforts turned to the annual. Not until 1916 was another produced—both books were named after the respective class colors.

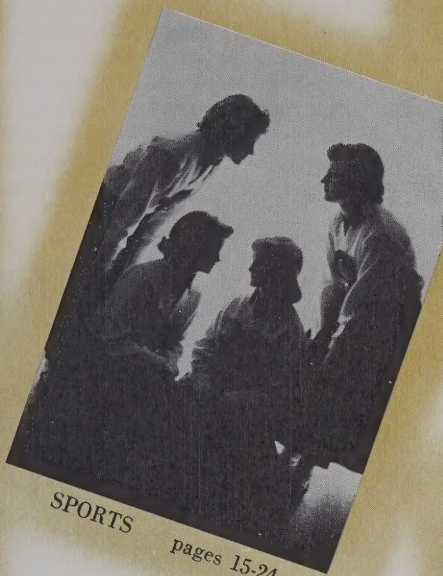

A large part of the early annuals was literary—there were few pictures. Snapshot and joke pages were in abundance.

Since 1918 every senior class has produced a yearbook. In 1919 the name Aeolian was chosen and became a tradition. The content of the Aeolian was to be, like the Aeolian harp, noted for its beautiful and prolonged notes.

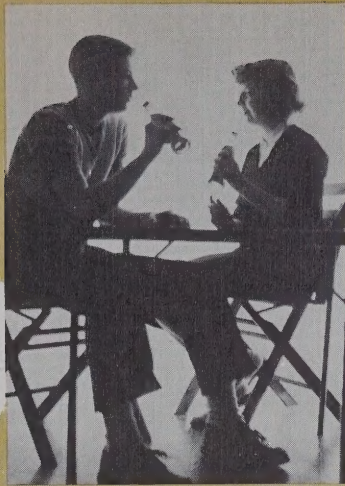

Aeolus, in silhouette, brings to you the message of the 1955-56 school year. When you see a shadowy outline or hear the wind sighing—let it recall this year.

"Oops! Your knees are showing!" Bermudas appeared at first football game.

SEPTEMBER . . . Old faces, new faces, amused faces, confused faces—first day of school . . . Junior kick-off dance dubbed "Football Frolic" . . . "Exec's" elected in each class . . . Frosh girls "given the works" by sophomore girls at Blue Triangle initiation . . . "The Old Ark's a-Moverin'"—Mr. Charles A. King led group singing at first assembly program . . . "All set? You bet!" New yell leaders and pep are synonymous . . . Bermudas prevail at "Hop-Scotch Hop" . . . Linda Duerk elected "prez" of GAA . . . Peanuts and cotton candy, judges' and blue ribbons—Auburn fair time again . . .

Horns? No, it's only motions to "Rolled Away" at first assembly program.

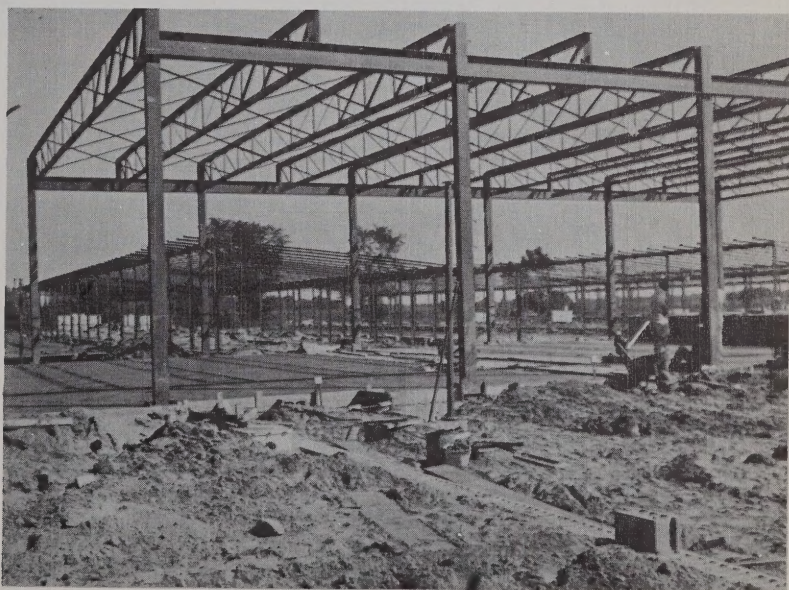

OCTOBER . . . Magazine sale launched . . . "To work, seniors"—Aeolian staff announced . . . Dale Holmes and Mary Alice Minniear stepped into the spotlight as "Teens of the Week" . . . Charcoal gray and white were chosen as the colors of '58's sweaters . . . "Sing, boys, sing"—boys' octet organized . . . "May I have a name card please?" . . . "Hobo Hop" was well attended by appropriately-clad students . . . Again, Blues were "blue" after magazine sale: Linda Harman, high salesman; Tom Burch, mystery day winner; Charlotte Atkins, mystery student . . . Teachers' Association meant a "breather" for "overworked" students . . . Auburn's jinx was broken—yells, snake dance, speeches, singing—exuberant Garrett fans celebrated in the business district . . .

"What am I bid?" Mr. Reitzke, launching magazine sale, introduced Zippy, traveling mascot.

Fritz Feick, Will Eastes, and John Hile took time out from the game for a sip at "ye olde water bucket."

Progress can't be stopped. The ground-breaking ceremony for the J. E. Ober Elementary School was held June 7, 1955; work started that week.

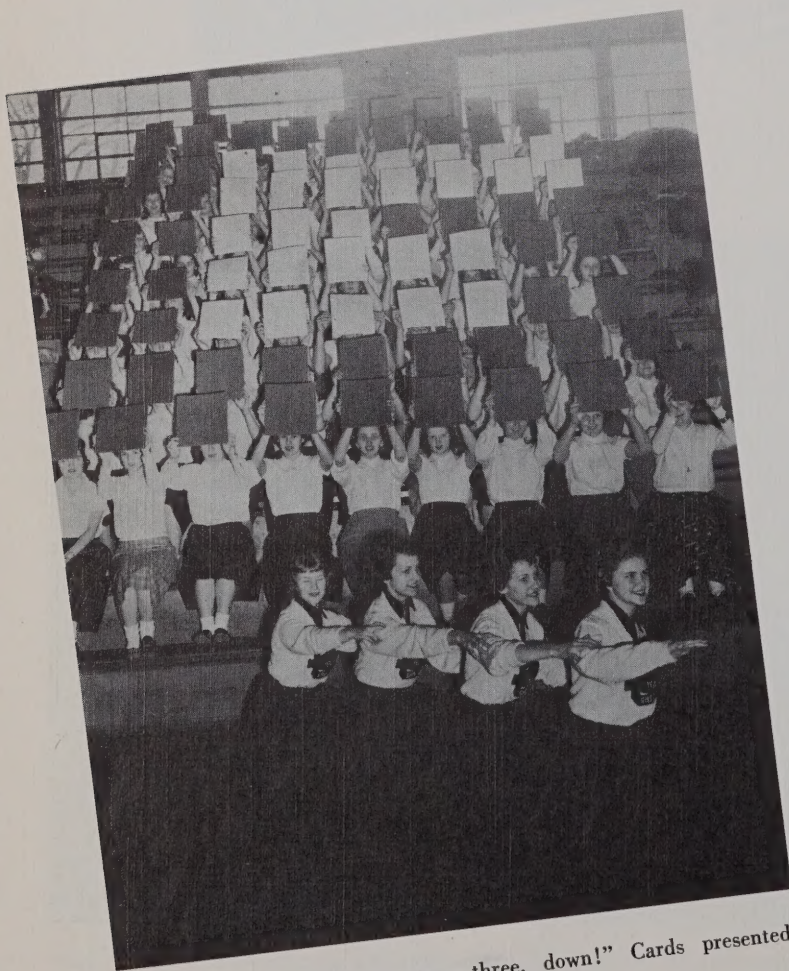

Introducing—Railroaders! Larry Getts stepped through the hoop at first basketball game.

NOVEMBER . . . "Rah! Rah!" Pep Club organized and officers elected . . . Sore anatomies followed skating party . . . Johanna Heinzerling was chosen DAR Good Citizen . . . "Come and join in song together"—Alma Mater introduced by boys' octet . . . "Fall Fantasy" theme of Hi-Y-Y-Teen-sponsored dance . . . "Which shall it be?" seniors pondered at College Night . . . Junior High yell leaders elected . . . "Pro's" Louis Easterday and Eston Hathaway named on "All Conference Football First Team" . . . Chorus participated in Thanksgiving program . . . "Snowman's Ball" enjoyed by all who attended . . . Linda Harman and Pat LaCroix featured as "Teens of the Week" . . . Victorious Maroons entertained by Blues at magazine party.

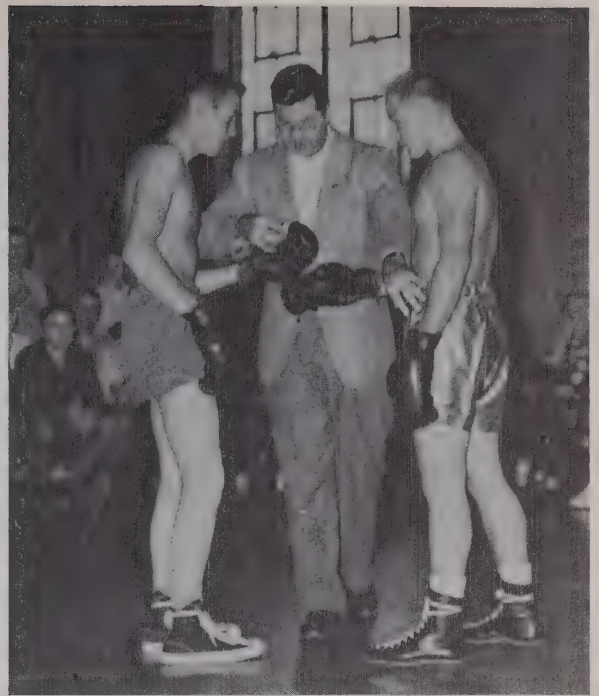

"Shine on, harvest moon, on me and my gal." Students swayed to the music of John Bishop's Band at "Fall Fantasy."

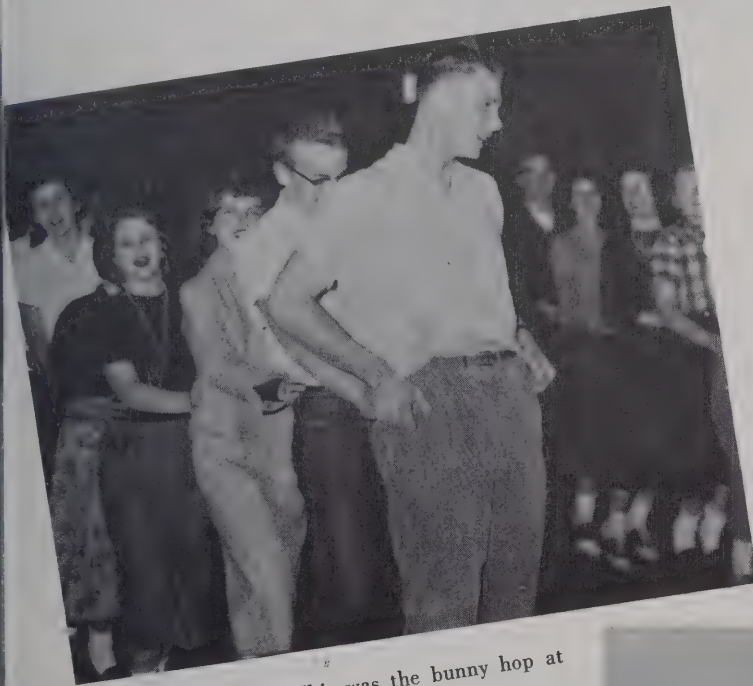

"One—two—three, up! One—two—three, down!" Cards presented a pleasing panorama at ballgames.

DECEMBER . . . "Delicious—can't be beat!" Lavish praise for Y-Teen sandwich sale . . . Teachers enjoyed Christmas party at Garrett Country Club . . . Annual Blue Triangle Christmas card sale a success . . . Several seniors suffered through scholarship tests . . . Juniors proudly displayed long-awaited treasures—class rings . . . Students celebrated another victory over Auburn at "Rudolph's Rendezvous" . . . Spotlight focuses on Tom Farrington and Linda Duerk as "Teens of the Week" . . . Program by chorus enthusiastically received by PTA . . . Blue Triangle took gifts to Allen County Children's Home . . . Band entertained students at Christmas program . . . Long-awaited vacation with all its festivities arrived . . . Railroaders' were "champs" of holiday tourney.

Entertainment was provided by sparring partners Louis Shutt and Rival McBride after sandwich sale. No fair loading his glove, Mr. Parks!

"Go, bunny, go!" This was the bunny hop at Hi-Y-Y-Teen meeting.

Daydreaming students watched progress of the elementary school from classroom apertures.

Holiday-tourney champs! Dale Holmes cut the last strand on the victory basket.

Half-time! Hard-working juniors sold concessions to crowds at basketball games.

JANUARY . . . Brand-new year and many broken resolutions as students returned to school . . . Long-awaited Leap Year arrived! Go, girls, go! . . . Whew! Rotten eggs! Chemistry students were at it again . . . "Be-Bop Sock Hop" enjoyed by shoeless students . . . Jinxed! First semester ended Friday the 13th . . . Fritz Feick and Eston Hathaway were exclusive members of crutches crew . . . "Rhythm Rendezvous" was a "real cool jewel" . . . Junior class and sponsors chose banquet co-chairmen, who then chose committee co-chairmen . . . Spotlight was turned on Kenneth Severson and Sharon Dickson as "Teens of the Week" . . . Vocal and piano contestants landed many superiors at district contest —on to state!

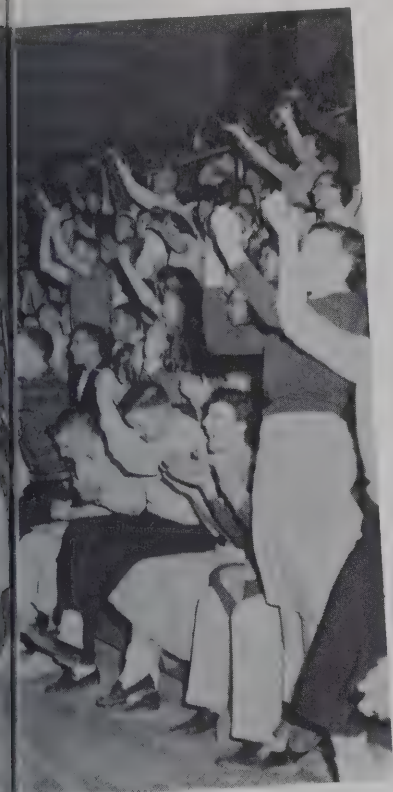

That's our boy! Garrett fans cheered the team victory at the Churubusco gym.

FEBRUARY . . . "Hepcat's Hideaway," last basketball dance, was "real smooth" . . . Captain Paul Dry told of his experiences in the Merchant Marine at assembly program . . . Kenneth Severson and Karon Leech reigned as King and Queen at the Hi-Y "Queen of Hearts" dance . . . Instrumentalists rated many superiors at district contest . . . Beverly Fulk and Rex Freeman stepped into the spotlight as "Teens of the Week" . . . Two ensembles received superior at state music contest! . . . Sectional time again—Garrett defeated Auburn but went down in the last game . . . "In learning, live, and in living, learn" was chosen as senior class motto, and yellow rose was chosen as class flower.

Fritz Feick and Dorothy Crow, co-chairmen, and Miss Lewis, sponsor, shaped plans for the banquet.

Robert Wiant assisted Mr. Paul Dry in demonstrating how to send an S. O. S.

Louis Easterday and Robert Wiant pantomimed "Two Black Crows" at "Queen of Hearts" dance.

Contestants in the regional contest at Angola were Judith Tooman and David Ober, Latin I and II, and on the right, Carl Zimmerman, algebra.

MARCH . . . Eighth-grade basketball team, with an outstanding seasonal record of seventeen wins and two losses, were proud champs of four-way tourney . . . Alfredo Cavallieri presented an excellent violin concert for assembly . . . Several teachers were stiff and sore following Teachers-Lions basketball game . . . Irish superstitions and leprechauns were pictured at "Shamrock Serenade," freshman party . . . Faye Ashenfelter and Fred Andrews were highlighted as "Teens of the Week" . . . Silvermoon rink was scene of gay, school skating party . . . Davies of Canada thrilled all with their vocal renditions . . . Noon choir performed for veterans at Veterans' Hospital . . . A carnival with all the trimmings, sponsored by the PTA, provided fun for everyone . . . "Swing your partner and do-si-do!" sang out the caller at Y-Teen square dance . . . Difficult Latin and algebra tests were tackled by "brains" in the regional contest . . . Concert band performed before judges at Angola . . . Spring vacation held promises of "sleeping in!"

The windows are in! Progress continued on the elementary school building, to be completed during the summer.

APRIL . . . Sophomores celebrated spring's awakening at "Springtime Serenade" . . . The senior class play, directed by Mrs. Schlecht, was presented April 12 and 13. Jeff and Hugo answered a very innocent ad which simply said "Ghost Wanted" and got themselves in a tangle of ghosts, zombies, secret service agents, secret passages, and international intrigue. All this and romance, too, for they met some very charming girls on the desolate island. P.S. The butler did it! . . . A medley from "South Pacific" and folk songs were featured at the vocal concert . . . George Groman entertained students in a program of dialects and colloquialisms . . . Music by the band, ensembles, and seventh and eighth-grade choruses constituted the band concert.

Rex Freeman (the Professor) solicitously placed a shawl around the shoulders of Johanna Heinzerling (Granny Kate) while she tried to restrain Carl Harter (Bradshaw). Marilyn Salerno (Madam Zolga) intoned "It is the sleeping cycle."

Everly Fulk (Troddy) registered horror as Anne Trainer (Ginger) peeked at Frank Johnson (Hugo, alias the Ghost). Janet Atkins (Gale) and Louis Easterday (Jeff) seem amused by the whole situation.

Paul Sparks (Hatcher), Janet Hathaway (Azalea), and Mary Alice Minniear (Nora) saw themselves moved about on a model stage as the play was blocked by Mrs. Schlecht.

How was the water, girls? A few of the brave people who ventured into the cold waters of Lake James at the picnic.

MAY OF '55 . . . "Come-a-Roamin'" spelled excitement, intrigue, romance, and adventure to Juniors and their guests, the Seniors, in the high school auditorium May 6, 1955. Hawaii, Japan, Arabia, Holland, Spain, Italy, France, Scotland, Switzerland, and Egypt were the lands of enchantment on Flight '55's schedule. The travel bureau at the entrance of the auditorium was the first clue to the evening's entertainment. Stepping inside the door, the huge Colosseum in Rome caught the eye, as did the large globe suspended from the ceiling. Six-feet high murals around the auditorium depicted scenic backgrounds of each country. Table decorations were miniatures of outstanding characteristics of the corresponding country. "Off-we-go" music was furnished by Dick Showalter's Quintet. Flight pilot Louis Easterday guided the tour to its destination. Beverly Fulk and Faye Ashenfelter rendered vocal solos, a

Japanese hospitality was extended

Hawaiian head table was the take-off point of the tour. Dick Showalter's Quintet provided music for dancing.

Waterloo girls' quartet sang, and Bobbie Foster presented a panorama. After a western hoedown at the Elks and a movie at the theater, the group trekked to the Eagles for breakfast.

Jean—and bermuda-clad students enjoyed themselves at the annual picnic at Pokagon State Park, where fun, frolic, and food abounded. Several brave, adventurous persons went swimming (brrr!), while others played softball or watched the activities. As usual, a few, with playful force, gave others an impromptu swim. Jokes and wise-cracks mingled with laughter around the tables laden with a bounteous spread. As dusk descended, tired, but happy, students headed for home — another treasure for life's memories.

Leis and sarongs were worn by head-table servers Dorothy Crow, Frank Mossberger, and Donna Crow, who are standing with banquet co-chairmen Stephen Gaw and Johanna Heinzerling.

Smiling juniors and seniors.

Servers of ten different nationalities catered to the needs and whims of hosts and their guests.

"Sign my Aeolian, please?" Nancy Ely watched Fred Andrews autograph hers.

MAY OF '56 . . . The high-school auditorium became a "Fantasy Fair" as Disneyland people came to life for the Jr.-Sr. banquet, May 4. The sophomore servers represented characters out of eight different Disney books . . . Track and golf highlighted the sports scene . . . Incoming Y-Teen officers were installed in a beautiful candlelight ceremony before mothers and friends . . . Blue Triangle mother-daughter tea was reminiscent of spring . . . Baccalaureate was an impressive occasion when seniors first wore their caps and gowns and received inspiration from message and song . . . Good times, consisting of softball, swimming, jokes, and food, were in abundance at annual picnic . . . Honor was given to deserving students on Recognition Day . . . At the dinner preceding Commencement, seniors heard their futures prophesied and the names of "most" were announced . . . The goal was attained—Commencement, beautiful and solemn. Dr. A. C. LaFollette of Ohio University addressed the seniors . . . "In learning, live, and in living, learn."

Feick stops Doerffler on run through the line for a five yard gain

The fighting crew of G.H.S. gridgers can be proud of their 1955 football season. The Railroaders dropped their first game, to a tough New Haven eleven but only after a hard battle. The following week, however, the Railroaders roared back to take a decisive victory over Hicksville, 35 to 0.

A second bid for the conference championship was made as the mighty Railroaders clashed with Concordia. Ill fate struck in the last 25 seconds of the game when the Cadets pushed over for a touchdown after the score had been tied 13-13 through most of the last half.

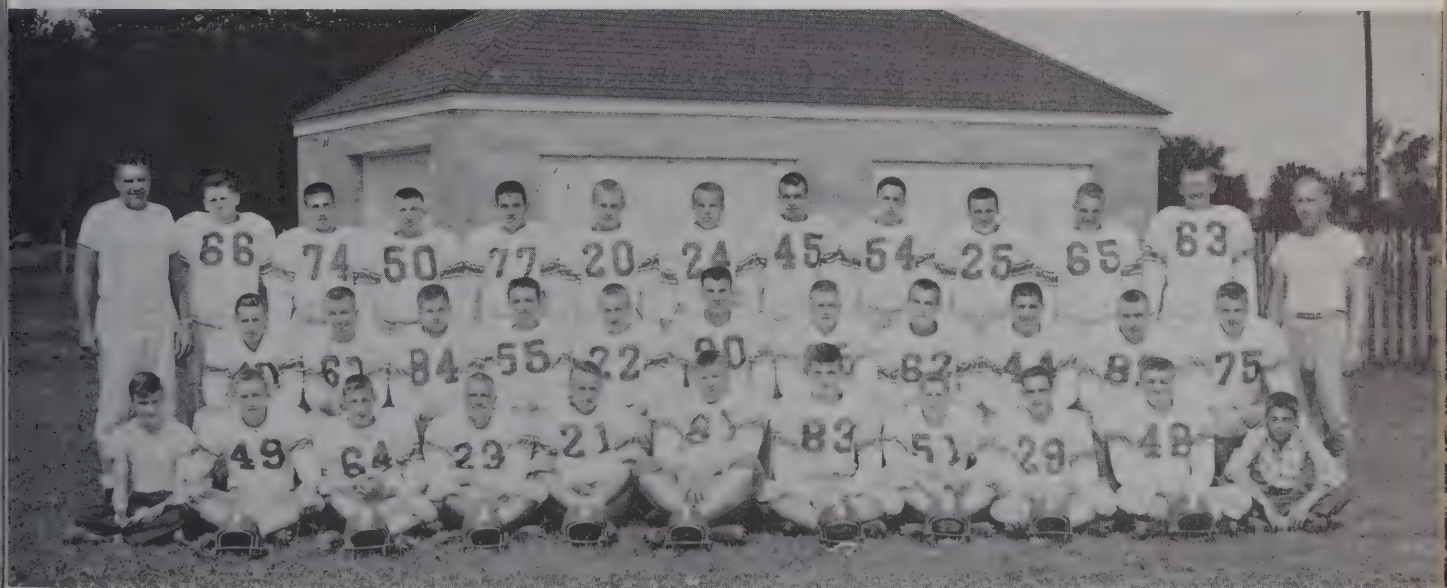

Garrett won the next three consecutive conference games from Decatur, Kendallville, and Columbia City with little difficulty.

Bluffton, a power in the conference, invaded Garrett's field with thoughts of avenging the shellacking they had taken the year before at the hands of the Railroaders. They succeeded in beating Garrett 20-6. The game was very close until the last few minutes of the final quarter when the Tigers scored two fast touchdowns.

As the season neared an end, the Railroaders traveled to Nappanee only to be held scoreless for the first time in the season by a powerful team.

Garrett, having won three and lost three conference games, finished the season in fourth place in NEIAC standings.

Easterday stops Roemer on the four

It was a determined Garrett team, attempting to revenge the defeats of previous years at the hands of the Red Devils, that rushed onto Auburn's field on the night of October 26. The Railroaders received the kick-off and with outstanding ball-handling moved the ball to the 10-yard line. At this point a pass went astray and was intercepted by the Auburnites. Both teams had to punt numerous times before the Red Devils finally completed a pass for their only TD of the game. The score stood 6-0 in favor of Auburn at the half.

Wrecker Andrews starts a 23-yard jaunt to Garrett's first touchdown against Auburn

Midway in the fourth quarter Coach Capin's lads made their first touchdown. The last of four successive plays resulted in a 23-yard romp around left end by Lynn Andrews. Three minutes later Garrett punted to the Auburn 16-yard line. On the first play that followed, an alert Don Thompson recovered a fumble. Only ten seconds remained in the game when Andrews scored the second and deciding touchdown. His spectacular zig-zag scamper around right end went through and around half of the Red Devil squad. Wayne Bartels made the successful plunge for the extra point. The Railroaders had a thrilling 13-6 victory in a game that will long be remembered.

Garrett had one of its most successful basketball teams in the history of the school by chalking up a 20-4 record during the 1955-56 campaign. Under the guidance of Coach Ward Smith the Railroaders compiled a 22 home-game winning streak extending over two seasons. It was finally broken by a powerful Nappanee team.

Starting the season with two wins but then losing the third game to New Haven, the inexperienced Railroaders soon caught fire. Such formidable foes as Auburn, Angola, Fort Wayne CC, and Bluffton were beaten as the Garrett team steadily improved. The fans of Garrett were given a thrill as the locals scorched the nets with 102 points in the Ligonier game. The Railroaders proved they meant business when the much-talked-about Avilla Panthers, having a seasonal record of 18 wins and one loss, came to Garrett. Playing brilliant ball in a record-packed gymnasium, the Garrett team defeated the Panthers to avenge last year's loss.

With only two conference foes standing in the way of a repeat performance as conference champs, the Railroaders dropped a 47-46 thriller to Concordia in an overtime. Decatur was added to the already long string of wins to climax the record-breaking season.

Garrett drew Churubusco in the upper bracket of the sectional to be played at Churubusco. Because of the Railroaders' fine season, they entered the tourney as one of the favorites. Continuing to show fine ball-handling and shooting, the Railroaders eliminated the "Busco" Eagles from the tourney. From there on, however, it was a different story. Playing the Hamilton Marines the next night, the Railroaders were almost derailed. The Marines cut an 18-point lead by the Railroaders to finish only one point behind at the gun.

Garrett next was to play Auburn who had advanced to the semi-finals by defeating Angola and Waterloo. With never more than 5 points separating the teams, the traditional rivals succeeded in completely unnerving the fans. With 20 seconds left Getts made a basket to put Garrett in the lead to stay.

The Railroaders had had to work too hard to reach the finals with Fremont. Garrett played a poor shooting game while Fremont was hitting from all over. The Railroaders were upset by the Fremont Eagles 67-52.

The House of Representatives

Louis Easterday, President; Stephen Gaw, Vice President; Sue Ann Smith, Secretary; Danny Hutton, Treasurer.

Under the leadership of Louis Easterday, the Student Council this year prepared a Code of Ethics, which was discussed in homerooms.

The Council also sponsored an assembly program of school work and talent. Demonstrations were given by science classes; the music department provided some musical numbers; the speech department produced some entertainment; and other departments arranged displays.

Council members assisted the principal in the drawings for basketball tournament tickets and in other school functions.

Operators' Club— Shutter Bugs

Stephen Gaw, President; Eston Hathaway,
Reporter; Thomas Ely, Secretary-Treasurer;
Tom Farrington, Vice President.

First row: Eston Hathaway, Tad Schmidt, Daniel Fuller, Stephen Gaw, John Cox, Louis Easterday.
Second row: Fred Knott, Adrian Thompson, Randy Bickel, Don Thompson, Thomas Ely, Daryl Severson, Mr. Bateman. Third row: Thomas Farrington, Thomas Guthrie, Paul Dell, Ted Thrush, Richard Rowe.

Room 4 is a familiar room to all members of the operator's club, since that is the headquarters for audio-visual instruction. Two of the club's most important services are running the motion picture machine for the teachers and setting up and taking down the loud speaker during the football games. The operation of the juke box, tape recorder, slide projectors, and opaque projector are also some of the duties which the industrious members learn to specialize in.

An operator from this group is available at all times for the teachers' convenience.

People With Late Books Don't Library Well

The members of the Library club, all of whom have volunteered as student librarians, have one single year-long project: to improve library service for students and teachers. To attain this goal each member gives one hour or more of his study time each day doing the many varied tasks that arise in a very busy library.

Each a Good Scout, No Doubt

"Be Prepared"—is the motto that every Boy Scout tries to live by. This idea has been very well demonstrated by the scouts as leaders in the community activities and through their group projects.

About 100 badges can be earned to help the boys choose different occupations, hobbies, and pastimes. The club has worked on projects in pioneering; leather craft; citizenship in the home, the community, and the nation; personal health; public health; and safety.

The troop took part in the Klondike Derby and Operation Deep Freeze at Pokagon.

The troop set out trees south of Garrett as a community project.

The assistant scout leader and sponsor of the scout club is Mr. Woodcox.

Pep

Garrett scores!! And with that an enveloping, roaring cheer exploded from the Railroaders' fans, filling the hardwood haven to the rafters with a deafening display of school spirit. "That's our boy! Go! go! go!" rebounded the ever-ready pep club.

The massive block of white-shirted fans was newly organized at the beginning of basketball season through the endeavors of the yell leaders and Miss Lewis. Each Friday noon of a home game, the hungry throng of pep-clubbers trooped to the gymnasium to eat lunch and have card drill.

At the halves of the varsity games, the cardboards went into action: "Two, three, up! Two, three, down!" To this count the card section raised and lowered blue and white cards forming appropriate letters and symbols.

As the season progressed, spirit increased, new yells were adopted, and heartier cheering prevailed. Many victories and new friendships resulted. A representative was named from each class to make up the executive committee and these appear in the picture.

Blue Triangle—Little Girls With Big Hearts

Blue Triangle is a club for girls in grades 9 and 10. They met every Wednesday afternoon, activity period.

The club is a very active one. This year, as for four years, they adopted the same Greek orphan girl through the plan for War Orphans. Evryklia received many things from the Blue Triangle: food, clothing, and at Christmas a gift of $25. They also gave gifts to orphans at the Allen County Children's Home at Christmas.

They sold Christmas and all-occasion cards. This is an annual money-raising project and as usual was a huge success. The total sales came to $918.95. Cleota Warstler was high salesman with $70.90.

Among their programs were films on dating, manners, and pictures of trips that some of the girls had taken during vacation. The more talented gave pantomimes and talent shows. Take-offs on such programs as This Is Your Life and Truth or Consequences were given.

The social highlight of the year was the Mother-Daughter Party. At this party new officers were installed.

"Pokey-Huntus" was the play presented at joint meeting of the Hi-Y and Y-Teens.

The feminine angle was evident in the October style show.

Y-Teens—Girls With Ideas and Ideals

The Y-Teens, girls of grades 11 and 12, met every Wednesday during activity period. The club's functions were cultural, social, community service, and fund-raising.

In the club's regular meetings, the girls learned everything from How To Choose a Boyfriend to How To Wrap Christmas Gifts. Quite often combined meetings with the Blue Triangle were held and style shows were given. One of the liveliest meetings was that of the Hi-Y and Y-Teens combined. Everyone had a great time trying to teach the boys to play Rhythm and how to dance the Bunny Hop!

The biggest social event of the season was the formal dance given jointly with the Hi-Y. Fall Fantasy was the theme and everyone had an enjoyable time dancing to the music of the John Bishop Band. King Steve Gaw and Queen Johanna Heinzerling and their court were honored.

Another social event was the square dance. Everyone who went had fun whether he knew how to square dance or not, but when the dance was over, all were pros at it!

The service committee made favors for the hospital at Thanksgiving.

One of the most popular events was the annual sandwich sale. Under the leadership of the co-chairmen, Nancy Smith and Sally Carper, the club made this year's sale one of the biggest, yummiest, and most profitable! Martha Shutt was high salesman.

The Future Farmers of America is a national organization of agriculture students. The local chapter, under the advisorship of Mr. Bateman, had many activities this year.

The chapter earned money by selling milk to the students at noon; selling garden seeds; and joined the Lions club in sponsoring a donkey basketball game. They also sponsored, as a service project, a contest for ridding crops of harmful pests. The losers of this contest held a basketball party for the winners.

Three members, with the advisor, attended the F. F. A. camp last summer. Representatives of the local chapter participated in many district contests including: Public speaking, Chapter, and Chapter Meeting Contest. They were also featured on a television program on the brooding of chicks.

First row: William Shenk, Edward Mahnesmith, Robert Wiant, Randy Bickel, William Snider, Tony Kolbe. Second row: Mr. Allyn, Edwin Maurer, Rex Freeman, Lynn Andrews, Daniel Fuller, Jerry Arrants, Charles Loomis, Harry Manges, Eston Hathaway, Mr. Pugh. How HI the Y

"To transact such business as may come before us—to fortify our high purpose through conference and Bible study—to strengthen the ties of friendship that bind us together—and to make the Garrett Hi-Y club and ourselves of greater service to our fellows."

These are the words in the opening ceremony of the weekly meetings. Among their programs were movies on manners and readings by Mr. Pugh. Rev. Walter E. Myers, the religious advisor, was present at many meetings. The club gave booster pins to the pep squad. They gave $50 to the Retarded Childrens' Fund. The boys made $71.18 from the sale of candy.

The Fall Fantasy dance, November 12, of which Hi-Y was the co-sponsor, is described in the Y-Teens story. Kenneth Severson and Karen Leech were King and Queen of Hearts at the semi-formal dance February 4.

Frank Mossberger, treasurer; Rex Freeman, secretary; Louis Easterday, vice president; Charles Tooman, president.

The High School Chorus has increased in number this past year. Under the supervision of Mrs. Flora, many of the younger high school students have taken a definite interest in chorus. Students join because they like to sing and enjoy spending their free time doing so.

The junior and senior girls with the boys' chorus combined to give the annual Thanksgiving program for the school.

One of the main highlights this year was a special Christmas program which all the choruses gave December 12 for the P. T. A. It featured novelty Christmas songs appropriate for the occasion.

The special groups and a few soloists entered in the solo and ensemble contest held January 28 in Fort Wayne. Those winning a superior rating competed in the state finals February 18 at Indianapolis.

March 22 a selected choir presented a program at the Veterans' Administration Hospital in Fort Wayne.

The annual spring concert was held April 20 with all the choruses participating. The special groups were featured in special selections.

The Garrett High School Band, under the direction of Raymond H. Cole, had a very successful year even though it was handicapped earlier in the year by the loss of many members through graduation. The band now consists of 45 members in the concert band and 53 members in the marching band.

The marching band had many activities this year including performances before and at the half-time of all home football games. It participated in the Auburn Fair, Halloween and Armistice Day parades. The band furnished music between halves and between games for all home basketball games. The twirlers also played an important part by furnishing entertainment during the intermissions with their various routines.

The band furnished the music for the annual Christmas program which was given for the entire student body.

BAND OFFICERS—David Gaw, librarian; David Ober, vice president; Rex Freeman, secretary-treasurer; Norma Thompson, president.

Many of the students participated in the solo and ensemble contest this year held in Fort Wayne. The finalists were competitors at Indianapolis in the state finals.

The annual band contest, a highlight for any high school band, was held at Angola in March.

Due to the size of the vocal and instrumental departments, separate spring concerts were held again this year. The band concert was held on April 27. The band will also provide the music for the commencement in May.

Summer activities planned for this year include band instruction lessons, and a series of three public concerts.

These met the Aeolian deadlines: Thomas Farrington, Photographer; Sharon Dickison, Business Manager; Johanna Heinzerling, Editor-in-Chief.

Such goals as "The mirror of school life," "The eyes and ears of G. H. S.," and "If it was in the Maroon and Blue, it's true," are constant aims of the journalism students.

Writing stories is only one part of journalism and the production of a self-supporting paper. Others of equal importance are acquiring subscribers, soliciting advertisers, getting story leads, typing, bookkeeping, editing and distribution. Each plays a major role.

This year fourteen students wrote, rewrote, complained, rewrote again, complained again, "burnt the midnight oil," and met the final deadline.

These hit the beat for the Maroon and Blue: Danny Hutton, Sports Editor; Joan Peters, News Editor; Patricia Ridenour, Advertising; Patricia LaCroix, Editor-in-Chief.

On each page of the Aeolian is a picture snapped by Tom Farrington. Through Mr. Bateman's effort, student photography was possible.

Sharon Dickison, business manager, supervised the securing of financial aid from the merchants; the selling of individual pictures to students; and the taking of orders and making collections. In all these activities she was aided by an industrious staff.

Ann Cutshall gave of her talent in styling pages. Marilyn Salerno proved useful in arranging both boys' and girls' group pictures. Fred Knott was the editor for boys' organizations. The music department was scored by Faith Getts.

The calendar journal was kept by Patricia Walker. Faculty life was delineated by Mary Alice Minniear. Senior life was recorded by Faye Ashenfelter. Robert Wiant was junior high editor. Research was made by Patricia Ridenour to secure quotable quotes. Dale Holmes drafted headlines on copy sheets. Peter Mountz and Louis Easterday carried the ball in the sports section. Official typists, Jana Lee Opdycke and Beverly Fulk, were aided by others.

Planning the book from page 1 to page 81; visualizing the pictures for the photographer to take; allocating the money produced by the business staff; prodding, encouraging, and aiding all other members of the staffs was the editor-in-chief of this 1956 Aeolian, Johanna Heinzerling.

Proudly we present the Aeolian production staff—the hard-working, enterprising young journalists who have remained calm and sane until the end.

Mrs. Sweeney and Mrs. Schlecht offered much-needed advice and guidance.

Thornes' Studio took individual pictures and developed and enlarged all others.

GOALS

G. A. A. is an organization for girls in the upper four grades, who are interested in participation in sports.

The first of the meetings saw the girls choosing captains for volleyball teams. A round-robin tourney was played until every team had played one another and Salerno's team was the victor.

When volleyball was completed, basketball started. The girls went through the same procedures for choosing captains, teams, and playing tourneys.

A banquet was held in the spring. Awards were given to best guard and forward, best sport, and high scorer in basketball. The winning teams and captains were honored. Seniors received chevrons for the years they had participated.

This year Garrett was invited to two play-days, one at K'ville and the other at Auburn.

In Line for Awards

1956 Honor Students

Fred Knott Sharon Dickison, Louis Easterday, Jana Lee Opdycke, Richard Hays, Patricia Walker, Rex Freeman.

There are many outstanding leaders in this class, but just as important are those many quiet ones who worked on committees, making successes of every project. As seniors the 79 students produced a yearbook and a class play. They were entertained by the juniors at "Fantasy Fair," the Jr.-Sr. banquet.

As juniors the successful "Come-a-roamin'," the 1955 Jr.-Sr. banquet, was a result of concession stand super-salesmanship. "April in Paris" was the theme chosen for the sophomore class party. The freshman class party had a Valentine theme.

Dale Holmes, president; Deloris Smith, secretary; Linda Duerk, treasurer; Kenneth Severson, vice president.

PTA EXECUTIVES—Sitting: Frank Brechbill, second vice president; Rev. Glenn Mulligan, first vice president; Donovan Aplin, president; Robert Pugh, secretary; Mrs. Vere Peters, treasurer. Standing: Mrs. and Mr. Lauren Smith, social chairmen; Ray Cripe, program co-chairman with Mrs. Cripe; Mrs. Herman Cordes, assistant secretary; Jon Buckles, hospitality co-chairman with Mrs. Buckles; Mrs. D. E. Conrad, assistant treasurer.

The PTA was organized in the spring of last year. As its first public service effort, the group sponsored a fund-raising campaign for the purchase of an Executone sound-system for use by Philip Conrad. Mrs. Herman Cordes served as chairman of the committee for this project.

Special programs throughout the year included demonstrations of modern devices in everyday teaching, a presentation by teachers during American Education Week; "Christmas in Song" by the high school choral groups directed by Mrs. John Flora; a demonstration of a replica of the battlefield at Gettysburg, which was made by David Walton; a demonstration of a resuscitator by Daryl Dalrymple and Harris Hoeffel, members of Garrett's Volunteer Fire Department; and a playlet, "The Night Watchman," written and directed by Mrs. Harry Landy.

Other committee chairmen this year who were not in the picture above were: Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Smith, membership; Mr. and Mrs. Harry Heinzerling, publicity; Mr. and Mrs. Edward Shenk, publications; Mr. and Mrs. Donald Dickison, devotions; Mr. and Mrs. Jack James, child study group, elementary; Dr. and Mrs. Perry Reynolds, child study group, secondary; Mrs. Dale Menges, budget and finance; Mr. George Staley, parliamentarian.
